SAAF 2017 Volunteer Appreciation Dinner

By Sallie Muse, Volunteer Resources Coordinator

SAAF will once again shine the spotlight on our wonderful volunteers at our annual Volunteer Appreciation event.

This year's event will take place during National Volunteer Week, on Thursday April 27, 2017, from 5:00 to 7:00 P.M. at the Historic Y. Dinner will be catered by Carte Blanche catering, served by SAAF employees, and followed by an awards ceremony where we will present honors in 21 categories.

SAAF would not be able to do any of the work we do without the commitment of our hundreds of hard-working and passionate volunteers. While we take this time to highlight some of the volunteers who make SAAF such a special place, we hope that all volunteers will come out and be a part of this event as we show our appreciation.

View the list of this year's honorees on page 3.

You can RSVP to Sallie Muse, Volunteer Resources Coordinator, at (520) 547-6174 or smuse@saaf.org.

Why Our Work Matters

By Wendell Hicks, Executive Director

Ever since last year's election, I've been doing a lot of thinking about why we do the sort of work we do. Oftentimes, our work consists of helping the most marginalized individuals to have a voice in a world that often does not want to hear them. So many of the people we help have been abandoned...abandoned by family, friends, and loved ones, just when they need them most. Stigma is a powerful thing and can be absolutely crippling for someone who doesn't feel they have a voice.

time we spend trying to make someone the "other" instead of looking inwardly and facing our own demons. What's worse is that we are perpetrating a crime against our very own US constitution which tells us that all are created equal and that everyone deserves basic human rights. What right could be more basic than the biological need to use the restroom that you are most comfortable with? And yet, we spend so much time debating and discussing this while real people suffer and die because of stigma, hate, and indifference.

Lately, so much of the news in our field has been centered around the struggles of transgender individuals and whether they have the basic right to use the restroom that most accurately corresponds with their gender identity. It reminds me how much

As of mid-March, 7 US citizens were killed this year alone because of their gender identity. That is more than one death every other week of some brave, beautiful soul who chose to stop hiding and reveal their true selves.

We should never forget:

- Ciara McElveen
- Chyna Gibson
- Jaquarrius Holland
- Keke Collier (Tiara Richmond)
- Mesha Caldwell
- Jamie Lee Wounded Arrow
- Jojo Striker

Why do we do the work we do? Because of these 7 people and the many more who struggle every day in a world that can be incredibly unwelcoming and downright cruel. We do it because it is the right thing to do, the only thing to do. We do it to give a voice to the silent.

All of us who work at SAAF, volunteer for SAAF, and support SAAF with our treasure are a part of this and while we have accomplished so much, together, there is still much work to be done.

Thank you for being a partner with me and SAAF in this difficult work. Thank you for working so hard to save the lives of others, strangers you may never even meet. Only together can we make a difference and we will. We do it for people like Ciara, Chyna, Jaquarrius, Keke, Mesha, Jamie Lee, and Jojo. We do it because far too often we have found ourselves cast as the "other" and know how horrible that can feel. We do it because it allows us to express our humanity and kindness. We do it to create a better community and world for all of us.

As always, thank you for being a partner in this good fight.

Until the stigma ends,

Wendell

This year's Möda was a huge hit, raising more than $80,000! Participating salons and boutiques pulled out all the stops, once again, and more than 200 models took to the runway and wowed the audience of nearly 800 attendees.

Highlights of this year's event included longtime SAAF volunteer Lupita Murillo being awarded with the Cele Peterson award; the crowning of this year's Project Möda designer; and BreakOut Studios' amazing dance.

This year's Möda Provöcateūr was presented by Primo Sponsor Civano Coffee House; Venerato Sponsor Southwestern Utility Management and Tesoro Sponsor Waba.

Thanks to everyone who came out and helped make this year's event one of the most successful ever! We'll look forward to seeing you again on Sunday March 4, 2018 as we celebrate 15 years of style, fashion, and compassion in support of the care services, prevention programs, and LGBTQ initiatives of SAAF.
